

To Whom It May Concern:

I am writing this letter of recommendation for Trey Anderson, a current member of the Corona del Sol Varsity Baseball team in Tempe, Arizona. I truly cannot express enough my respect and admiration for this fantastic young man. From day one in our program, Trey has remained an amazing leader and tireless worker, both in the classroom and on the field.

As an infielder, he has proven to be a coachable individual with great instincts and the ability to field at an extremely high percentage. Trey's arm strength is solid and his efficiency with his feet allows him to play both positions on the left side of the infield as well as 2B. Due to his "Swiss Army Knife" ability, he has also shown remarkably effective skills and speed in the outfield. Trey is a consummate worker, in all facets of the game, and is not afraid to put in work in the weight room. We fully expect him to be in the mix this year and next, playing alongside an extremely talented group of young men.

At the plate, Trey has learned to flatten his swing and shown potential gap to gap power with frequency. He has opposite field pop and the innate ability and short swing to adjust to the inner half. Trey is a first in the cage, last out the cage player with unparalleled motivation and grit...this definitely has paid off for him in the box.

Lastly, in a climate where scholarships are limited and players need to achieve in the classroom, Trey is as accountable of a student-athlete as we have ever had in our program. He currently has a 4.0 GPA and his ethics in the classroom are above reproach. I recommend Trey in the highest regard and encourage you to reach out me if you have any questions...he truly is a fantastic baseball player, but an even better human being.

Yours in baseball,

Dave Webb
